Cambridge University Press are pleased to announce that this year's Murphy Scholarship is being awarded to Thailand.

Every year, Murphy scholarships are offered to students in a different country. The scholarships, kindly provided by Cambridge author, Raymond Murphy, allow students the opportunity to study English in Cambridge, England for two weeks in July, 2015 at the prestigious Bell Cambridge English School.

Scholarships will cover all reasonable costs including tuition fees, flights, visa fees, transport within the UK, accommodation, meals, and day-to-day subsistence.

To qualify, a student must be at least 18 years old, be attending a university currently and be a Thai national. Preference will be given to students who have never before travelled to Europe.

In order to enter the competition, students need to write an original essay on the following:

This year, the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) brings the 10 nation members of ASEAN into a single economic community. In 300 words, tell us how you think the AEC might benefit Thailand's younger generation.

Entries should be sent by email to bangkok@cambridge.org no later than Monday, April 30th, 2015.

Eight entries shall be selected for interviews in Bangkok at a mutually convenient time and date. Accommodation and travel expenses will be paid in full by Cambridge University Press. Four winners will be selected for the two-week study trip in Cambridge in early July 2015.

We hope that you will help us in sharing this exciting opportunity with your students.

Yours Sincerely,

เรียน ผู้รักษาการแพนรองอธิการบดี(ดเ.อาณี่ตั้ ดีพ่วมกุล) Miletion
